

Beumer sets up Australian subsidiary

Beumer Group, Beckum, Germany, an international leader in the manufacture of intralogistics systems for conveying, loading, palletising, packaging, sortation and distribution, has established an independent company in Australia. Located in Belrose, NSW, Beumer Group Australia Pty Ltd takes over from the previous local representative office. One reason for the move was the recent acquisition of the Danish Crisplant a/s which joined the group in mid-2009. As a result the Beumer Group expects now to be in a better position to respond to the rising needs of the Australian market. It currently employs about 3000 people worldwide and achieves an annual turnover of some 450 million euros.
