

New sales manager at Beumer

Beumer Group headquartered in Beckum, Germany, has appointed Bruno Reckmann, 46, as sales manager for its Conveying and Loading, Palletising and Packaging business divisions. He assumed his new responsibilities in October which cover the sales territories of Europe,

Middle East and Africa. He studied mechanical engineering and has experience in product management, product marketing and sales of construction machinery, conveying technology and floor conveyors. He was previously in charge of German sales for an American corporate group. Reckmann succeeds Ulrich Hock, who has transitioned to the Beumer Group holding company where he has become global sales director for the above-mentioned product lines.
