

Bunting expands manufacturing team

In response to buoyant sales, Bunting Magnetics Co, Newton, KS, has recruited two new manufacturing staff to its materials handling product line. Matt Anderson and Kenton Stumps have joined the company as a manufacturing engineer and design engineer, respectively. Commenting on the new appointments Barry Voorhees, general manager for the company's main production facility, said: "We are experiencing a large increase in sales and as a result needed additional talent to help balance or workload. We anticipate this growth continuing throughout the first half of 2011 and we will be adding more headcount in our technical services department soon." The European head office of Bunting Magnetics is in Berkhamsted, UK. www.buntingmagnetics.com

Matt Anderson (left) and Kenton Stumps have joined Bunting Magnetics