

New CEO for Siemens Industrial Automation Systems

Eckard Eberle, 45, has with effect from beginning of June taken over as CEO of the Industrial Automation Systems business unit of Siemens. Headquartered in Nuremberg, Germany, it forms part of the Siemens Industry Automation Division. He succeeds Ralf-Michael Franke who was appointed CEO of the Siemens Drive Technologies Division in early April. Eberle was previously head of the Siemens Control Components business segment as well as being in charge of Facilities Management in Amberg.

www.siemens.com/industryautomation

Eckard Eberle