

Vibratory conveyor warranty extended from three to five years

Key Technology BV, the Netherlands, has introduced a new five-year warranty on its range of Smart Shaker vibratory conveyors. The same applies to its Iso-Flo vibratory shakers and Impulse electromagnetic shakers. During the first year of the new warranty, Key provides full coverage of major components such as the pan, frame and supports, as well as all wear parts including replacement or repair labour for the pan and frame. In years two through to five, the company provides coverage of major components, including replacement or repair labour for the pan and frame. This guarantee is conditional on the machine having been run within design specifications and maintained according to manufacturer's recommendations.
