

Larox Flowsys opens Australian subsidiary

Larox Flowsys Oy, Lappeenranta, Finland, the leading global supplier of flow control and pumping equipment, has set up an Australian sales office at Frenchs Field near Sydney, NSW. Martti Lahtinen has been appointed managing director of the new company, Larox Flowsys Pty Ltd. He commented: "We strongly believe that this decision will significantly improve the availability of our products and services in the region". The Finnish parent company was the first pinch valve manufacturer in the world to be awarded ISO 9001:2000 quality assurance certification in 1997. This covers all operations including product design, research and development, manufacturing, process application, sales and marketing, customer service, customers' application support and after-sales services.
