

Mettler Toledo wins magazine award in North America

Mettler Toledo, Greifensee, Switzerland, has been nominated the winner in the Measurement, Load Cell/Weighing product category by readers of Control Design magazine. Award recipients are selected for 51 product categories, the results being gathered through questionnaires sent to 15,000 readers of the publication. Participants included individuals who specify, recommend or buy industrial automation and control products but excluded vendors of this type of equipment. They were asked to name the companies which in 2010 had provided them with best technology value. Only companies that received at least 5% of their category vote were included. Mettler Toledo took the top spot in the Measurement, Load Cell/Weighing category with a score of 27%. The company was also recognised as a top service and support leader with a rating of 4.2 on a 5-point scale, with 4.0 as very good and 5.0 as providing excellent service.
