

Nimo-KG presents fresh image at IFFA

Nimo-KG, the leading Swedish manufacturer of in-plant bulk handling systems for the food industry, will unveil its new look at the IFFA food industry trade fair which takes place 8-13 May in Frankfurt. In what is the biggest change since the company was founded in 1958, it has introduced a new logo, updated its website and abbreviated its name to Nimo-KG, from the previous Nimo-KG Transportsystem. CEO Johan Bergman explained that 'Transportsystem' was open to misinterpretation, since the company's core activity is internal product handling rather than logistics. Also at IFFA the company is launching an upgraded version of its best selling lifting device, the SKV 300 C3, many hundreds of which have been sold in recent years to food processing plants throughout Europe, Russia and the USA.
