

Piab opens Indian subsidiary

Piab, the leading manufacturer of vacuum conveying systems for chemical and food-grade powders with global headquarters in Täby, Sweden, recently set up a subsidiary in Chennai, India. Piab Vacuum Technology Pvt Ltd is headed by general manager Jayaprakash

Veluchamy who for the past three years has operated from the company's Asian head office in Singapore. To serve the huge Indian subcontinent, area sales managers will operate out of key industrial centres such as Hyderabad, Pune, Delhi, etc. Piab's initial plan to set up an office in India had been delayed on account of the global financial crisis of 2009 but the regional economy has in recent months recovered strongly. www.piab.com

The new offices of Piab Vacuum Technology Pvt Ltd, Chennai, India