

Rhewum strengthens screening presence Down Under

Rhewum, Remscheid, Germany, has been supplying screening machines to the Australian chemical industry for the past 12 years. Earlier this year the company appointed SelectEquip, based in Bayswater North, Victoria, as its distributor in Australia, a move which is expected to introduce the German manufactured equipment to a broader range of industries. In September both companies will share a stand at AIMEX (Asia Pacific's international mining exhibition) where at booth R153 will be shown for the first time the type WA directly driven high-performance screening machine which is capable of achieving screen cuts of between 0.5 and 5mm (270 – 4 mesh). By means of high-frequency screens driven by electromagnetic vibrating heads, Rhewum is able to provide finest screen cuts at very high feed rates for a variety of applications.
