

New sales director at Rhewum

Specialist screening machine manufacturer Rhewum, Remscheid, Germany, has appointed Dipl.-Ing. Dietmar Koch as its new sales director. After obtaining a degree in process engineering from the University of Clausthal, he started his career working for a global group specialising in mineral processing. He was subsequently promoted to head of engineering from 2004 to 2009, in which capacity he played a prominent role developing and installing complex processing plants, which he also supervised as plant manager after commissioning.
