

Clamp-on ultrasonic flowmeter for liquids

Siemens Industry Automation Division has introduced the Sitrans FST020 ultrasonic flowmeter which has been specifically designed for basic applications that only require flow reading functionality along with easy communication capabilities. The device can measure practically any liquid and can be installed on pipes up to DN 9000. Thanks to the simplified configuration options and set-up, it can be quickly commissioned. www.siemens.com

Sitrans FST020 ultrasonic flowmeter from Siemens Industry Automation Division