

Simple communication via Ethernet in RFID applications

Siemens Industry Automation Division has developed a new communication module for the connection of RFID (radio frequency identification) read/write devices to Ethernet. Primary applications of the Simatic RF182C are in conveyor systems, machine building and assembly lines. The new product is designed for Ethernet communication by means of TCP/IP protocol and supplements the modules already available for Profibus and Profinet.

www.siemens.com/simatic-sensors/rf

Simatic RF182C from Siemens Industry Automation Division